Deputy Billy Lewis responded to Deer Cove Drive for a Physical Domestic. Upon arrival and Sgt. Smith arrival, Lewis made contact and detained for officer safety Steven Patton, who was outside spraying his face with a water hose. Steven said that he and his sister got into a fight, which resulted in him striking her in the face with Great Value Bleach. The deputy then spoke with the victim, who was standing in the kitchen being attended to by Chief Lett. The victim said that Steven showed up to the home gathering up some items, stating some did not belong to him. The victim called her parents, and Steven was asked to leave by his father. Steven agreed to leave and asked his sister to step back so he could shut the door. Steven pulled the door partially shut and stood there staring at her. When she attempted to shut the door, Steven "Busted" opened the door and struck her with a container of bleach, busting it in her eye's mouth, face, and clothing. The victim said that she had the bleach in her mouth which caused her temporary blindness to the point she could not see anything, and possibly swallowed some. The victim was transported to Fort Loudon Emergency Room for treatment. The deputy took Steven Patton into custody for Aggravated Domestic Assault and transported him to Fort Loudon Emergency Room for treatment prior to transporting to the jail without incident. book has until June 16 to comply.

Eliminating illegal sportsbooks from Tennessee is a primary focus of the SWC with its mission to protect the public interest through a safe and regulated sports betting environment.

During April and May, the SWC has issued $200,000 total in fines to BUSR, Be-tUS, MyBookie, and Xbet, and in November 2024 the illegal offshore book Bovada shut down in Tennessee after the SWC issued it $50,000 in fines. In April, the SWC issued cease and desist letters to illegal offshore sportsbooks Sportsbetting.ag and Lowvig.

Additionally, any businesses in Tennessee working in conjunction with illegal offshore sportsbooks could face criminal penalties. Those interested can always go to tn.gov/swac for a list of licensees and vendors approved to do business in Tennessee.

"Shuttering illegal sportsbooks will benefit the legalized market, our licensed operators and the public good in Tennessee, but illegal offshore sportsbooks are not going to go away easily," SWC Executive Director Mary Beth Thomas said. "We envision a Tennessee where all sports wager are legal, and we're working closely with our network of law enforcement at the state and federal levels to make that vision a reality."

Tennessee is the largest "online-only" sports betting market in the U.S. with more than $4.8 billion wagered to date this fiscal year through online sportsbooks licensed by the SWC.

Investigation Reveals Theft and Misconduct by MTSU Professor

An investigation by the Tennessee Comptroller's Office, working in conjunction with the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation, has resulted in the indictment of Middle Tennessee State University Professor Don Hong.

The investigation focused on Hong's role in the university's Actuarial Science Program and covered selected financial transactions from January 2020 through February 2025. It began after MT-

SU's internal audit reported questionable transactions to the Comptroller's Office.

Investigators determined that Professor Hong misappropriated at least $8,225.48 in donations intended for the university. Hong encouraged students to contribute donations to support the Actuarial Science Program. These donations were transferred to Hong's personal bank account rather than being properly deposited into one of three university-managed funds. Although Hong remitted some of the donations to the university, he failed to turn over at least $8,225.48. After investigators began reviewing his financial transactions, Hong submitted an additional $11,700 to the university.

The investigation also revealed other serious concerns about Hong's conduct:

He used a false identity and a fictitious business name to lease his personally owned rental properties to international students whom he recruited through his university-funded role.

He received cash from students for airport transportation, which he also claimed as a reimbursable expense from the university.

He accepted other questionable payments from students and used student labor for personal benefit without proper authorization.

He did not report a student's allegation of violence after it was reported to him.

He appeared to retaliate against a student who reported his misconduct by submitting an anonymous allegation of academic misconduct using a fictitious identity associated with his personal information.

your emotions.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Cancer, you should try to be tolerant of other people's social and political positions. You may have to deal with certain people whose personal plans are jeopardized by events beyond their control. Don't judge them.

Leo 7/23-8/22

This is a day for doubts, for asking those hard questions that you need to answer. If you like to meditate, Leo, think about spending a little more time at it today. You could learn a lot about yourself. You will see the whole palette of human emotion in other people, from joy to disappointment.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

It may seem that you've been accumulating a lot of excess nervous tension and stress, Virgo. Unfortunately, you won't be able to count on the people around you to make it any better. What your partner wants and what you want may not coincide.

Libra 9/23-10/22

You may feel physical and emotional tension today, Libra. Are you taking the time to care for your body? Has someone been putting a lot of pressure on you lately? Are you an emotionally satisfied person? The way you feel physically is a good indicator of your mental state.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

People love to be with you because you have such natural charm, Scorpio. But today you may not feel especially charming or like talking to anyone. You may have a secret inside that's screaming to get out. If someone confides in you today, do you think you could confide in him or her, too? You should get an answer to that question today.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

Your partner may be all over you today, Sagittarius! Are you in the mood to listen? Are you interested in some love? Probably not. You may have had a hard day and just feel like some quiet time together. You aren't up to the demands your partner may make on you.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

You're often moved by emotion, Capricorn. You like situations that make you feel alive. Today your love life may give you just that kind of adventurous feeling.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

You're a helpful person, Aquarius, yet in your relationships, you often seem to confuse helping with parenting. You tend to do a lot of self-sacrificing. Today you may learn how to say no when you feel your partner has gone beyond the limits of what you can give.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

Everyone needs to be loved, Pisces, but it shouldn't be your only objective in life. It isn't the end of the world if your charms fall flat every once in a while. Today you may be tempted to be a little less charming and seductive with the people around you.

Aries 3/21-4/19

There are days when a little humility can be good for you, Aries, and this might be one of those days. It's as if the planets are talking to you about sincerity and taking you far away from the trappings of superficiality and popularity.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Your fiery willpower can help you move mountains, Taurus. But you already know that. When it's combined with your legendary optimism, it's a powerful tool you just can't do without. Today you will reap the rewards for your hard work over the last month, in every aspect of your life.
